Pext of the Lesson, John xl, 22-45. Mentury Verses, 41-14-tiolden Text, John 11, 25-Commentary Prepared lor the Hev. D. M. Stearns.

[Copyright, 1899, by D. M. Stearns.] 32. "Lord, if Thou hadst been here my brother had not dled." Thus said Mary when she came to Jesus as she fell at His feet in her sorrow. They had sent Illm word, but He came not, yet He oved them. Oh, but this seems hard to muything that very great faith! To see our loved ones taken away knowing that lie could give them health and let them stay with na, and yet believe that in it all Ho loves us! We can see the love when He gives health, as to the billed man or the Impotent man or the nobleman's son, and we em see Ills love to those whom He takes to Ills beautiful home, but where is the evidence of love to the broken hearts that are left? Yet it is all love, and all

Hear Ithu as lie says: "I will ransom them from the power of the grave, I will redeem them from death. death, I will be thy plagues; O grave, I will be thy destruction!" (llos. xiii, I4.) The work of the enemy cannot hurt any

81. "Where have ye laid him?" 'This from Illm as a man, for as a man He was sympathizing with them and enterlag 1qo their sorrows. We have not a high priest who cannot be touched with a feeling of our infirmities, but was in all polats tempted like as we are, yet without she (Heb. iv. 15). They said unto llim, Lord. come and sec.

25. "Alesus wept." What toars they were which fell from the eyes of the Man of Serrows; actual tenra from human gyes, yet He was God manifest in the flesh! Here and on Olivet as He wept over Jerusalem (Luke xlx, 41) He wept for others, not for Himself. To the daughters of Jerusalem He said, Weep not for Me, but weep for yourselves and for your children (Luke xxiii, 28). But what shall we say of Illastrong crying and tears in thethemane, when He prayed nuto Him who was note to save Illm from death and was heard, and was saved from dying in the garden, and was strengthened by an angel and went on and finished His work (fich. v, 7).

36. "Then said the Jews, Bohold, how He loved him." Yes, it was leve that wept, but there was more than love in it. The words make us think of I John ill. 1,

"Behold what mannor of love the Father hath bestowed upon us that we should be called the sons of God." But one Only Begotten, yet many sons through him. 87. "Could not this min have eaused that even this man should not have died?" Yes, He could, as far as the ability was concerned, just as easily as He could open hilled eyes, but there was to be more glory to God by the death and resurrection than would have been by recovering him from his sickness (verse 4). It seems as if everything He did was questioned by those who knew Illm not. 88. "Jesus, therefore, ngain groaning in Himself, cometh to the grave." The whole rreation groaneth and travalleth in pain tegether until now, and we also who have the first fruits of the Spirit group within surselves, walting for the redemption of the body (Rom, vill, 22, 23). There may be a connection between these two groan jags of creation and believers and the two groanings of Jesus on this occasion.

B9. "Jesus said, Take ye nwny the
